

In our city of Salinas the same company owns two of our three TV channels. The same local news, same people dressed slightly different give the same video clips and information. All that changes is the banner with the name of the station and some of the graphics. One is channel 35 the other 46. (Fox and CBS) One airs at 10 PM the other at 11PM.

I believe is bad. It reduces the perspective and depth of coverage in the local news. The more the diversity of the coverage, the better for the viewers.

I do not understand you people not seeing any problem with less owners handling more of the channels of communication. Are you trying to help or protect the people that own or run this mega corporations that have an ever increasing leverage on popular beliefs and opinions?

I believe you are supposed to be speaking and looking after the regular people of our country, doing what is best for them and not the big media conglomerates.

Shame on you.
